

Balancing Information Technology and Information Security

May 2, 2017 ▪ 9:00am - 4:00pm
The Bankers Center ▪ Baton Rouge, LA

Is your bank ready for the separation of Information Technology (IT) and Information Security (InfoSec)? The bottom line is that these are two enormously critical areas, and there are certain duties that must be performed regardless of the assignee. Examiners and auditors often recommend the separation of these critical areas, and assigning these duties appropriately can prove challenging, if not impossible. In this class we will review the duties associated with managing both IT and InfoSec, possible opportunities to bring independence to these respective areas and how to ensure that all duties are covered adequately. Participants will receive electronic copies of sample policies and forms.

Workshop Topics:

- Appointing an appropriate ISO
- Regulatory expectations
- Critical IT responsibilities
- Critical InfoSec responsibilities
- Segregating, merging, blending
- Annual policies, programs, testing, reporting and training
- Performing a meaningful risk assessment
- Future challenges

Who Will Benefit

IT Staff, IS Staff, Audit, COOs, Operations and any others who have technology security responsibilities

Registration Fee

$475, LBA Member (Includes electronic link)

$675, non-member (Includes electronic link)

Workshop Instructor

Holly Boullion holds a Bachelor's of Science in Electrical and Computer Engineering and has over 20 years of experience in the information technology industry. She has spent the last several years providing information security auditing and consulting services for financial institutions, nonprofit organizations and other businesses. She stays current on changing threats, government regulations, and various organizations' security frameworks to assist clients in implementing appropriate controls to protect against cybersecurity threats. Before joining Traina & Associates, she served as Senior Vice President and Information Security Officer at a community bank, where she managed the IT, Operations, and Systems Support departments. Traina & Associates joined CapinCrouse in January 2017.
