

Fair Credit Reporting Act Review and Update (Webinar)

May 23, 2017 ☐ 3:00pm - 5:00pm

The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) has been around since the 1970s. The law was fairly straight forward for many years. Then the Fair and Accurate Credit Transaction Act (FACTA) became law on December 4, 2003. The FACT Act revised the FCRA. The revisions, which unfolded over an eight year period, resulted in substantial changes for all financial institutions.

In order to understand the various provisions of the law today, research must include both the FCRA and FACTA and the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's (CFPB) Regulation V and the Federal Reserve Board's (FRB) Regulation V. It is all a bit of a jumble.

This two-hour webinar provides a review of the numerous subparts and appendices included in both the CFPB's and FRB's Regulation V and the FCRA and FACTA. Although none of the provisions are new, program participants frequently comment that they never heard of some of the sections discussed. Ignorance of the law is not an acceptable excuse for violations. If any member of your staff is not familiar with the provisions listed below they need this program.

Program participants will receive a detailed manual that provides a thorough explanation of all the FCRA requirements.
