

What Every Bank Needs To Know About the TCPA: Compliance and Litigation Challenges and Recommended Strategies (Webinar)

November 30, 2017 ☐ 10:00am-11:30am

The Federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA) poses particular challenges to financial institutions as they attempt to communicate with credit applicants and borrowers using modern telephone equipment. The risks are significant – uncapped statutory penalties of between $500 and $1,500 per call attempt. The risk of violations is exacerbated by the ambiguities of the statute and implementing regulation, broad evolving interpretations by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and conflicting case law. This presentation will highlight key compliance and litigation risks to financial institutions and provide risk mitigation recommendations.

Who Should Attend
