

2017 Lending Compliance Update (Webinar)

November 8, 2017 ☐ 3:00pm - 5:00pm

“Keeping up” is the most common training goal for compliance and lending personnel. Since the late 1960’s, the steady stream of new consumer laws and regulations has been continuously supplemented by revisions of previously issued regulations. Often, compliance errors occur simply because the lender was unaware of the change.

The volume of changes to lending compliance laws and regulations has continued at a rapid pace in 2017. The changes come, in large part, from TRID amendments, revised mortgage servicing rules, proposed HMDA and ECOA regulations, and the new CFPB concept of regulation by enforcement.
