Key Messages:

- The first storm-related fatality of Hurricane Delta occurred in St. Martin Parish and was a generator-related death. Fire investigators say the victim was trying to put out a fire caused by refueling a hot generator located in a shed.

- Many survivors are relying on generators since close to 300,000 Louisiana residents are still without power. For a current power outage map, go to https://lpsc.louisiana.gov and click the top link on the right under Most Recent News and Information.

- If survivors of Hurricane Laura have new or additional damage to their homes from Hurricane Delta, they should take photos, document damage, and be prepared to report the information to their insurance company, and their local emergency management office.

• Local and state officials continue assessing damages from Hurricane Delta. Survivors are encouraged to self-report their damages to the state by visiting: www.damage.la.gov. Remember, any determination for federal assistance due to damages from Hurricane Delta will be made after damage assessments are completed by state and local officials.

To date, FEMA has put more than $162 million in the hands of survivors, more than $110 million for housing assistance and nearly $52 million for other needs assistance. So far, FEMA has registered 184,372 households.

Help spread the word: if anyone receives a letter saying they are ineligible for FEMA assistance, they should not be discouraged. They just may need to provide additional information. In fact, missing documentation and not enough damage to essential living spaces are among the most common reasons survivors can initially be found ineligible.

- Examples of missing documentation include an insurance settlement letter, proof of residence, proof of ownership of the property or proof that the damaged property was your primary residence at the time of the disaster. The goal of FEMA housing assistance is to ensure people live in safe, sanitary and functional housing.

FEMA assistance is not insurance. Your home may have suffered storm damage, but if it did not affect essential living space, you may not be determined eligible for assistance. FEMA considers the kitchen, living room, bathroom and occupied bedrooms as essential living spaces.

- If anyone thinks an error was made regarding their case, they have the right to appeal. The appeal must be in writing and include new information or documentation. Start the process and get assistance with their appeal letter by calling FEMA at 800-621-3362 (TTY 800-462-7585).
• For claims of harassment or incivility in the workplace, please contact the Office of Professional Responsibility at FEMA-Misconduct@fema.dhs.gov or by telephone: 833-TELL-OPR (833-835-5677).

• FEMA cautions those receiving disaster assistance that funds can only be spent for disaster-related expenses. FEMA provides letters to survivors of Hurricane Laura that detail the approved uses for grants. These may include: repairs to make a home habitable, rental assistance for temporary housing, repair or replacement of a disaster-damaged essential vehicle, medical care for an injury caused by the disaster, replacing clothing, occupational tools and educational materials and moving and storage expenses related to the disaster.

• Survivors choosing to return to damaged homes need to be sure they’re safe. Because many areas may not have reliable power, those returning should have adequate food, water, medications, bug repellent, batteries and cellphone chargers. Walk carefully around the outside of your home and property and check for loose power lines, gas leaks and structural damage. If unsure, ask a qualified building inspector or structural engineer before entering. Enter your home carefully and check for loose boards and slippery floors. If your home looks like it may collapse, leave immediately. For more information on what to look for when reentering your home, go to ready.gov/returning-home.

• The Governor’s Office of Homeland Security & Emergency Preparedness (GOHSEP) is working closely with local, state, tribal and federal officials; private-sector partners; and private nonprofits (PNPs) to manage the impacts of Hurricane Laura. For more information, visit: gohsep.la.gov.

• Emergency housing remains a major focus, as impacted residents are filling up designated facilities. To date, 8,521 hurricane survivors are in shelters in Texas and Louisiana, 3,768 are sheltering in Louisiana and Texas hotel rooms. If you need shelter, text LAShelter to 898-211 for information about where to go or call 211.

• The State of Louisiana has launched an online hub for Hurricane Laura information at hurricanelaura.la.gov, which highlights news and links to resources. Additionally, the governor’s office has also established a Laura-specific texting list to give people wanting updates on Hurricane Laura. Text LAURA to 67283 to receive updates.
Direct Temporary Housing Assistance:

- FEMA financial assistance is our primary means of helping survivors. You can use your FEMA rental assistance to rent an apartment, a travel trailer, a container home, a tiny home, or whatever you think can meet your temporary housing needs while you and your family recover.

- FEMA rental assistance is a grant to survivors to pay for somewhere to live temporarily while they work on permanent housing plans such as repairing or rebuilding their home.

- Options include renting an apartment, home or travel trailer to keep survivors near their jobs, schools, homes and places of worship. Survivors can find places to rent by searching online or in their local newspaper.

- Funds may be used for security deposits, rent and the cost of essential utilities such as electricity, gas and water. They may not be used to pay for cable or Internet.

- Once survivors have registered with FEMA for assistance, no further application is required for Direct Housing. Survivors do not need to register twice. FEMA will initiate contact with survivors to determine eligibility for housing assistance.

Public Assistance Helping Survivors:

- The Hurricane Laura major disaster declaration for the state of Louisiana (DR-4559) has been amended to included Public Assistance permanent work (Category C-G) for Grant, Jackson, Lincoln, Ouachita, Rapides and Winn Parishes.

- Qualifying private nonprofit houses of worship in Louisiana may be eligible for FEMA grants to cover Hurricane Laura-related expenses. Grants through FEMA’s Public Assistance program may cover costs to repair or replace facilities damaged during the hurricane. The program is funded by FEMA and the Governor’s Office of Homeland Security and Emergency Management. FEMA defines religious facilities as a church, synagogue, mosque, temple or other house of worship without regard to the religious character of the facility. No religious facility or house of worship may be excluded from this definition because leadership or membership in the organization is limited to persons who share a religious faith or practice. Apply online at sba.gov/funding-programs/disaster-assistance. For questions about SBA disaster loans, call 800-659-2955 or email FOCWAidition@SBA.gov.

USACE Helping Survivors:

- The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) has reinstated signups for Operation Blue Roof for Cameron, Calcasieu, Vernon, Jefferson Davis, Beauregard, and Allen Parishes for a period of 14 days starting Oct. 11. A new reinitiated right of entry (ROE) will be required for homes with previously installed temporary roofs after Hurricane Laura, and sustained damages from Hurricane Delta. Also, homeowners within the six eligible parishes may apply, even if there was not temporary roofing installed following Hurricane Laura. Call 888-roof-blu, 888-766-3258 or visit www.usace.army.mil/blueroof. The deadline is Oct. 24.
SBA Helping Survivors:

- Additionally, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has approved more than $272 million in low interest loans to help Louisiana hurricane survivors recover. Disaster loans up to $200,000 are available to homeowners to repair or replace damaged or destroyed real estate. Homeowners and renters are eligible for up to $40,000 to repair or replace damaged or destroyed personal property. Visit disasterloanassistance.sba.gov or call 800-659-2955

NFIP Helping Survivors:

- If a Louisiana resident had an NFIP policy that expired in the last 30 days, they should immediately call their insurance agent to see if they are still covered during the grace period.

- There are 8,230 NFIP policy holders in Louisiana whose policies are under the 30-day window to renew their policy. NFIP policies that are in their expired period right now, can still be reinstated with quick action. Contact your NFIP insurance agency to find out if you’re affected.

- Because budgets have been stretched thin due to COVID-19, FEMA extended the normal 30-days to 120-days for policies that have an expiration date between February 13, 2020 and June 15, 2020.
  - For example, if your policy expired on June 13, 2020, you have until October 10, 2020 to pay in full to renew and still potentially be covered for a loss from a hurricane or flood.

- As of Oct. 8, the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) has paid nearly $16 million to Louisiana residents.
Policy holders should follow these steps to move their claims forward: Contact your insurance agent to report your loss. If you can’t remember the name or number of the insurance company that services your FEMA flood policy, call the NFIP at 877-336-2627 to find out. Or email floodsmart@fema.dhs.gov.

- Take videos and photos of all damaged property inside and out. Good evidence of damage can help get you up to $5,000 in advance payment on your claim.
- Keep all receipts and record the time spent performing the work to submit to the insurance adjuster when you file your claim.

Salvation Army Helping Survivors:

- The U.S. Salvation Army has 19 mobile feeding units on standby to support affected areas and has set up command posts in Alexandria, Lafayette and Lake Charles. Each mobile feeding unit can serve 500 to 1,500 meals per day.
  - To further help, two-time Grammy Award winner and 2020 Billboard Music Award nominee Lauren Daigle has teamed up with the Salvation Army to provide relief to those in need in her home state of Louisiana. She’ll stream a benefit concert for Louisiana residents affected by the recent storms on October 11, which was recorded at the historic Orpheum Theater in New Orleans. All proceeds from ticket sales will go directly to the Salvation Army and American Red Cross and their efforts to provide direct support, meals and shelter for those affected. For tickets, go to: laurendaigle.veeps.com/stream/events/1f3ef9023627
  - The Salvation Army has also established an Emotional and Spiritual Care Hotline at 844-458-4673 (844-458-HOPE).
  - For more information on the Salvation Army’s continued response, visit salvationarmyusa.org or disaster.salvationarmyusa.org. To make a financial gift to support ongoing disaster relief efforts, donate online: give.helpsalvationarmy.org or by phone: 800-725-2769 (800-SAL-ARMY).
